

University of Toronto Scarborough
Department of Physical and Environmental Sciences

-
2. As an extension of the first objective, we will examine the root drivers of human-induced environmental change (e.g. climate change), and the fundamental dilemma of proactive human agency with respect to alternate email account. Similarly if you want to communicate with me, please send the message from your U of T address as I will not respond to emails from other email accounts.